

SIGRID FISHER

An accomplished artist whose family had property on the shores of Lake Memphremagog for almost 150 years.

A former student of the Ontario College of Art.

Well known for her abstracts and graphics and bold use of colour.

An inherent sense of style comes from her Swedish roots.

Her canvases mirror her feelings, her questions and her now silent protest. Less angry than her last exhibition Flight, painted during an especially painful and shocking time in the artist's life (personal tragedy of her husband's diagnosis with Alzheimer's and leaving the family homestead), PASSAGE offers a beautiful, complete message. It is an organic, rhythmic message inviting us to pause for a moment.
